DETAILED ACTION

This action is in response to the amendment filed on 9/11/06.

Drawings

Figure s 10 and 11 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

The replacement drawings of Figures 10 and 11 marked "Related Art" are not approved since the term has little meaning. These figures are either prior art, in which case the figures need to be labeled as such, or are not prior art in which case no markings are necessary. Since these figures are described in the "Background to the Invention" portion of the specification they seem to be directed to prior art.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Akizawa 5,009,355.

Akizawa discloses an electric stapler comprising a magazine portion 26, a staple striking portion 7, a driver, and a motor; a table 4 supported by a main body frame 1 of the electric stapler, and including a clincher mechanism for folding to bend a leg portion of the staple penetrated through the sheets along the sheets as shown in Fig. 2, and a wing piece formed at the table; and locking means 6 formed between the wing piece of the table and the main body frame, wherein pivoting force in an opening direction of the table is hampered by engaging the locking means with the wing piece as shown in Fig. 1a (claim 1); wherein the locking means 6 comprises a lock plate including a locking pin 17 engageable with the wing piece at one end thereof and supported by the main body frame at other end side thereof, and wherein by engaging the locking pin with the wing piece from being pivoted the pivoting force in the opening direction of the table is hampered (claim 2); the locking means further comprises an operating piece 13 formed at the lock plate and an operating cam 14 arranged to be brought into contact with and to be separated from the operating piece, and a spring (claim 3).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Akizawa 5,009,355 in view of Kanai 5,836,502.

Akizawa discloses an electric stapler with a locking mechanism substantially as claimed as discussed above, but does not disclose wherein the locking means comprises an eccentric cam supported by a main body frame and engageable with a wing piece. However, Kanai shows electric stapler comprising a table supported by a main body frame and having a wing piece 11, and a locking mechanism comprising an eccentric cam 10 engageable with the wing piece 11 for the purpose of actuating the wing piece such that performing a staple driving operation and thereafter stopping the actuation of the wing piece in an opening direction during the staple driving operation as shown in col. 15; 64-67 and col. 16; 1-10. It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to use an eccentric cam on the locking mechanism of Magnusson's as taught by Kanai to properly lock the wing piece in an opening direction during a staple driving operation.

Kanai also teaches the concept of engaging teeth 54,55 and locking teeth at 52 (claim 5).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect Magnusson have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
